COMPLAINT

COMES NOW, Fred Woodrow Mauney, Jr. from herein on referred to as the Plaintiff to This Honorable Court and states the following:

FACTS OF THE CASE

1. Sometime in the month of March of 2009 Plaintiff went to file a verbal complaint with the United States Postal Service, Office of Inspector General's office in Arlington, VA, hereon referred to as USPS IG, as a follow up to a complaint Plaintiff filed in 2003. Plaintiff met with Special Agent Gordon J. Thompson of the United States Postal Service, Office of Inspector General's office in Arlington, VA and filed a verbal complaint concerning "Fraud Upon The Court" and "Misconduct/Conflict of Interest" charges involving United States Postal Service Attorney/Employee Kurt C. Lusty. Mr. Lusty apparently masqueraded as a Special Assistant United States Attorney in a civil action case the Plaintiff filed in the United States District Court - District Of Utah, Central Division, Civil NO. 2:01CV-179K; Fred Woodrow Mauney Jr., Plaintiff in persona propria Vs. United States Postal Service, et Al. Plaintiff left a folder full of documentation in Special Agent Gordon J. Thompson possession. Special Agent Gordon J. Thompson and the United States Postal Service, Office of Inspector General's office have refused to notify in writing to Plaintiff of their findings. Upon information and belief Fred Woodrow Mauney Jr., Plaintiff has come to realize that some form of Quid quo pro/Bribery cover-up has been instituted between Special Agent Gordon J. Thompson and David C. Williams, Inspector General for the United States Postal Service, Office of Inspector General's office and along with the Eric Holder, United States Attorney General, the United States Justice Department and with John E. Potter, Postmaster General of the United States Postal Service and William R. Gillian Jr., Chief Postal Inspector for the United States Postal Inspection Service. To further cover-up the corruption/crimes committed in said civil case by Ex-Attorney General John Ashcroft and the United States Justice Department and the United States Postal Service and the United States Postal Inspection Service and United States Postal Service Attorney/employee Kurt C. Lusty. See Exhibit "A, 1".

FRAUD UPON THE COURT
(NO STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS)

2. In 2003 Plaintiff went to the USPS IG's office in Arlington Va. and met with Special Agent Derek Smith and gave a verbal complaint with documentation. This complaint was concerning the Plaintiff being instrumental in solving the murder of United States Post worker Lee Wayne Parker. In which the United States Postal Service has a posted reward offer of $100,000.00 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any United States Postal Service employee. A file of inquiry was opened that day. The USPS IG office was to verify the Plaintiff's allegations that the Plaintiff was to get back in contact several weeks later. Upon Plaintiff contacting Special Agent Derek Smith several weeks later, Special Agent Smith told Plaintiff that the USPS IG office could find no reason why Plaintiff should not have been paid said reward and said the Plaintiff's complaint had been sent to the legal Department and for the Plaintiff to get in touch with him in a couple of weeks again. Upon the Plaintiff contacting Agent Smith again, plaintiff was informed that the USPS IG's office's legal Department could find no reason either why said reward should not be paid. A few months passed and the Plaintiff tried to contact Agent Smith again only to find out Agent Smith had been transferred and nobody had yet been assigned to the Plaintiff's case file. About 6 months later Plaintiff called the USPS IG office again and a David Vannorstrand has been assigned the case file but had done nothing with it. Plaintiff also talked to a Thomas Gribben at the USPS IG office. Upon hearing nothing back from the USPS IG's office Plaintiff went to his United States Representative, Congresswoman Sue Myrick's office and there was told to contact staff member Robert Becker which Plaintiff did. That Robert Becker sent a fax to the USPS IG's office on May 6th, 2004, Exhibit "B, 1" and got 2 responses back from the USPS IG's office and 1 from the United States Postal Inspector, Exhibits "C, 1-3". The responses from the USPS IG office and the United States Postal Inspector's office stated Plaintiffs complaint had been adjudicated in court. This was a lie. Plaintiff had filed a lawsuit in the United States District Court - District Of Utah, Central Division, Civil NO. 2:01CV-179K, Fred W. Mauney Jr., In Persona Propria Vs United State Postal Service e.; Al. which had been dismissed for Plaintiff's failure to respond to a Motion to Dismiss filed by Special Assistant United States Attorney Kurt C. Lusty a USPS attorney. Which now constitutes Misconduct, Malpractice, Conflict of Interest and "Fraud Upon The Court". Therefore making said motion Void in nature and in Fact.

PLAINTIFF'S HISTORY

3. In October of 1993 Plaintiff was struck down with Transverse Myelitis, a neurological affliction in his lower spine and the doctors told him he would never walk again. Yet, with the grace of God and with his own determination, left the rest home in October 1995 under his own steam. After now saving the American taxpayer some $30,000.00 a year, which now would be to the tune of $70,000.00 a year, Plaintiff, a native of North Carolina, went to Salt Lake City, Utah in May 1996 to do a story about a person on disability; a real miracle of God and getting back into life in America.

"THE REWARD"

4. On the morning of May 21st, 1997 Plaintiff and Cory Karpakis came upon the scene where Lee Wayne Parker a United States Postal worker on his way to work was being shot and murdered by one Jose Garcia Maramontes. Because of what Plaintiff and Mr. Karpakis thought was a motorist in trouble and they stopped to help and instead were witnesses to a murder in progress. The murderer, realizing they were witnesses, shot at and chased the Plaintiff and Mr. Karpakis. Maramontes later received a 30 year prison sentence for trying to kill Plaintiff. Upon learning that Mr. Parker was a postal worker on his way to work they inquired to the Postal Inspector Joseph L. Schouten about said reward and he told them that they qualified, but only after the conviction. After the conviction Mr. Schouten then claimed that the phrase "On Account Of..." disqualifies Plaintiff from the reward. "On Account Of..." is derived from "Because Of..." and clearly established law states that Plaintiff was owed the reward. {EMPHASIZED}
5. Plaintiff went up to the University of Utah Law School and under the flag of pro bono and work product had law students network with the different civil litigation and constitutional law professors to see what if anything was written that would say why he shouldn't receive this reward. The answer was that he/Plaintiff absolutely had this reward coming. That there was no reason that the United States Postal Service shouldn't honor their promised reward offer of $100,000.00. That they also informed the Plaintiff to write a letter to the United States Postal Service, Office of United State Postal Inspection Service in Washington, DC so that he would qualify for punitive damages under tort law which the Plaintiff did, Exhibit "D, 1".

6. Plaintiff filed a civil complaint against the USPS et. Al. on or about March 21st, 2001. And was granted in forma pauperis status March 21st, 2001. Exhibit "E, 1-3" is a copy of docket sheet.
7. Ex-Attorney General John Ashcroft appointed Kurt C. Lusty as a Special Assistant United States Attorney. Special Assistant United States Attorney Kurt C. Lusty then files a Motion to Dismiss the Plaintiff's claims August 30, 2001, which is misconduct because his job is to ascertain the truth.
8. The primary reasons why the United States Justice Department handles lawsuits filed against United State Government Officials, departments and agencies are; 1, to insure that no one is conspiring to get a free drink at the public trough; 2, that no one in position in the Federal Government can use that position for their own personal aggrandizement or to assert their power in an unlawful manner for what ever reason to deny arbitrarily someone's claim and 3, that it is the United States Attorney General and Justice Department duty to insure that the Government of the United States of America lives up to it's own rules (in this case the offer a reward) and keeps its integrity as the rule of law demands. Otherwise no person or business would trust, work for, or do business with the United States and our Government would lose the confidence of the people. Their job in this case is to verify, "Does the United States Postal Service offer rewards for solving the murder of it's employees?" The answer is yes. Was a postal employee "Lee Parker" murdered? The answer is yes. Did Plaintiff assist in the arrest and conviction of the murder of Lee Wayne Parker? The answer is most emphatically yes! (Emphasized)
9. In 2001 the Plaintiff was riding a bicycle across the United States of America when 9-11 happened and Special Assistant United States Attorney Kurt C. Lusty files a Motion to Dismiss. The trauma the nation was going through and the Plaintiff being in the middle of Kansas at the time made it virtually impossible for the Plaintiff to respond to the filed Motion(s) to Dismiss. Exhibit "F, 1-7". When the Plaintiff did make it back to Utah and was drafting up a motion under the default rules, he went to the office address of Special Assistant United States Attorney, Kurt Lusty to see if he was still around so that he could be served. To the Plaintiff's shock and amazement he discovered Lusty's office was in the South East Regional Office of the United States Postal Service, not a United States Attorneys Office and that Kurt Lusty was employed there as a Postal Service Attorney. This is clearly a prima fascia case of "Misconduct/Conflict of Interest" under which an attorney can be suspended and/or disbarred for misconduct, under the Rules of Professional Conduct in the State of Utah's Bar Association Rules and The American Bar Association Rules and established United States Court rulings. This is not only a case of "Misconduct/Conflict of Interest" but also of the Malpractice of Law and of "Fraud Upon The Court" which makes all filings made by Special Assistant United States Attorney Kurt Lusty, and rulings thereof, void in nature and in fact. Yet upon investigation by the United States Postal Service the Office of Inspector General's office won't send the Plaintiff the conclusion of their investigation/findings or bring prosecution thereof, upon information and belief this clearly demonstrating Quid quo pro/ bribery by and of said named Government Officials.

10. It is clear that the Defendants think and/or believe that the Constitution of the United States of America is nothing more than a mere piece of asswipe.

11. The said officials have sworn an oath to the Government of the United States of America and they have betrayed that oath not only to the Plaintiff but to the Constitution, People and Government of these United States of America. Making them all co-conspirators in acts equivalent to sedition to the "The Rule of Law" and are Traitors by their actions.

TRIAL BY JURY

12. The Plaintiff requests a jury trial.

AMOUNT OF MONEY

13. In addition to the reward plus accrued adjustments and interests the Plaintiff hereby states compensatory damages be awarded to the sum of $100,000,000.00 and that This Court would be just in awarding any other relief that This Court deems appropriate and proper.

RELIEF

14. Upon discerning the truth of information, documentation, the allegations filed in this complaint that This Court is empowered with responsibility and the duty to issue bench warrants for the arrest of all parties committing crimes alleged in this complaint. This Court if further empowered to impanel a Federal Grand Jury immediately if not sooner to investigate, to hear the evidence and where appropriate to bring back "True Bills of Indictment".

The Honorable Sue Myrick
Member, U.S. House of Representatives

Gastonia, NC 28052

Dear Congresswoman Myrick:

We are writing in regard to your constituent, Mr. Fred Mauney, who contacted you and employees of the Office of Inspector General about his assertion of his rights to a reward for his part in solving the murder of a postal worker in Salt Lake City, Utah.

As we discussed with Robert Becker of your staff on June 30, the issues Mr. Mauney raises are not within our jurisdiction. We believe that the matter can be best addressed as a policy issue by the Postal Inspection Service. Therefore, we have forwarded your correspondence to the Postal Inspection Service and have asked for a direct response to you. A copy of our referral letter is enclosed.

As information for Mr. Mauney and his representatives, the Office of Inspector General routinely reviews charges of fraud, waste, and misconduct in the United States Postal Service. As is our procedure, we will retain the information they provided in our database, which we periodically review to identify systemic issues and potential areas for review.

We appreciate your concern in this matter. If you have further questions related to this inquiry, please have your staff contact our Congressional Liaison, Gene Wiley, at (703) 248-4628.

July 29, 2004

Honorable Sue Myrick
Member, U.S. House of Representatives
Suite B

Gastonia, NC 28052

Dear Congresswoman Myrick:

This is in response to your inquiry about your constituent, Fred Maundy, and his efforts to obtain a reward for assistance he provided in the investigation of the murder of postal employee, Lee Parker, in May 1997.

We have communicated with Mr. Maundy on several occasions since October 1999 about this matter. The Postal Service pays rewards for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons for offenses against postal employees who are on duty, or on account of the performance of their duties. Mr. Parker was accosted on a freeway while en route to his place of employment. He clearly had not begun his work day at the time of the incident.

We certainly appreciate Mr. Maundy's efforts in assisting the local police in solving the murder of Mr. Parker. However, since the crime occurred while Mr. Parker was off duty, Mr. Maundy is not eligible to receive a reward.

Mr. Maundy filed a civil complaint against the Postal Service in the U.S. District Court for the District of Utah. The lawsuit was dismissed.

If you would like more information, feel free to contact me at (202) 268-4370.

Mr. Fred W. Mauney

Dear Mr. Mauney:

We received and reviewed your request for a postal reward. We noted that along with this request you sent a copy of the newspaper article on the murder of Mr. Lee Parker. Mr. Parker was not officially employed when murdered. The photo with the article shows that Mr. Parker was in his personal vehicle, not a postal vehicle. This detail was brought to your attention for the following reason: on the attached Notice of Reward, "Murder or Manslaughter" is listed as "The unlawful killing of any officer or employee of the Postal Service while engaged in or on account of the performance of their official duties."

Mr. Mauney, we do appreciate your efforts, time and assistance with helping the police solve the murder of Mr. Parker. Unfortunately because Mr. Parker was not on duty our Reward Program can not compensate for your actions. We hope you understand our position on this matter.

He is doing a charity ride, called "Ride for America," from West to Washington. The 100-mile route requires cyclists to sleep the flag. This is the second year he has made the trip. This year he is raising money for the Native of Phoenix Charities.

Ride For America

Mauney rides to create awareness of national concerns and issues

Fred W. Mauney, "The Phoenix," made his first solo bicycle ride from Salt Lake City to Washington, D.C. in the summer of 2000. Leaving Salt Lake City July 11 this year, Mauney has been retracing his route to stimulate discussion of American issues that were ignored during the Presidential campaign.

Mauney met with thousands of Americans all across the country last year and found most frustrated with the way political leadership ignores their local needs as well as their opinions on national concerns.

The first leg of this year's Ride from Salt Lake to Denver focused on formulating a 30-day, 1,000 mile Ride in 2002 for the Youth of America to increase their awareness and understanding of these issues and provide them opportunities for networking together in discussions. It is Mauney's hope that many young people will arrange to obtain summer school credit through this "rolling educational forum" as they deal with issues and selected subjects of interest to them. Special guest speakers will join the Ride along the way for lectures and discussion groups.

A weeklong set of special activities in the Snowmass/Aspen area is planned including hiking, biking, rafting and other events of interest to youth such as music, art, competitions and numerous facilitated discussion sessions. Also in the planning stages is a two-three day music festival featuring headliner groups from all across America. Local sponsors throughout the area have been supportive of the concept, and planning is in progress toward an early August timeframe.

The second leg of the Ride which Mauney is on now is to seek sponsors for next year's ness of both local and national issues.

Of particular importance are the issues surrounding the American Flag. This year, Mauney is flying a large U.S. flag on his bike as he rides. He said response by passersby has been nothing short of phenomenal. Horns blowing, people waving, saluting, cheering, shouting and clearly expressing their support for the effort, the importance of the ride and the need to "take our country back."

Mauney encourages everyone to "get involved. America and its principles are under attack. We must slow down the freedoms we enjoy. When you pay taxes on the work you do, you are also sacrificing for those same principles and freedoms. What are we doing to honor these sacrifices? What are we doing to resolve our country's problems, remembering others who were willing to fight and die for just what they believed in so we could have the abundance of a free country?"

Mauney said this year's Ride for America 2001 is being dedicated in part to the memory of NASCAR driver Dale Earnhardt, "The Intimidator." "It's undeniably tragic on the local community issues reflect the best of what Americans should strive to be. He represents the type of person everyone should try to emulate," Mauney said.

He rides a bike, which he snatched out of a garbage dump, and carries a massive American flag, which he attached to the bicycle.

Mauney rides under the banner of Phoenix Charities, which he founded with the money from his disabilities check.

His trip, called Ride for America, is his second solo journey in two years. Another trip is planned for next year. Mauney said he hopes to be joined by many others in his next trip. Along the way, he talks with thousands of individuals about topics ranging from hemp-growing to terrorism.

"Red is a modern-day Paul Revere," said Jan Ferland, a friend of Mauney.

On the road again

Mauney began his journey on July 11 but faced a setback: He was struck by a car. He recovered and is still planning to make the trip to Washington. He finds places to stay along the way and relies on others for meals. Mostly, he travels to college campuses and talks with students. He also makes stops to converse with farmers.

Mauney arrived on the MU campus Oct. 20. He set up a tent at Speaker's Circle and informed students of his cause.

Mauney said the main purpose for this year's trip is to promote next year's ride from Salt Lake City to Denver, which will cover 1,000 miles and span 30 days.

The event is geared toward young people to provide opportunities to discuss political issues, the environment and energy.

Mauney said the bike ride will give students a platform and be like a working vacation. Mauney is planning a week-long series of events in the Aspen, Colo., area. He said he hopes to offer biking, rafting, guest lecturers and music. Past presidential Green Party candidate Ralph Nader said he would speak at the event, and alternative rock

Fred W. Mauney wants to inspire his fellow Americans to put the "us" back in "U.S.A."

Mauney, 54, bicycled through the county Thursday and Friday on his 3,000-mile quest to inspire people to talk about issues and seize the reigns of democracy.

Mauney began his trip — the second in two years — July 15 in Salt Lake City and plans to finish in Washington, D.C.

He has brought with him a large American flag, which he rescued from an abandoned Coca-Cola bottling plant in Salt Lake City after the company moved operations to Draper, Utah. According to a Web site dedicated to Mauney's travels: "The flag represents corporate abandonment of many of the principles that built the greatest democracy and system of free enterprise in the history of the world. A part of Mr. Mauney's ride focuses on bringing those principles back to the consciousness and attention of Americans everywhere."

At the end of his journey, dubbed "Ride for America 2001," he plans to present the flag to Congress and the president to fly over the capitol as a symbol of democratic principles.

Mauney rode into town Thursday on U.S. 42 south of the city. He said a woman stopped to talk with him, learned he had lost a bag containing toiletries and bought new ones for him. Another area resident allowed Mauney to stay Thursday night free in an unoccupied rental unit.

He receives similar help everywhere he goes, but his main support comes from the Salt Lake City businesses and the Larry H. Miller Center for Entrepreneurship at Salt Lake City Community College.

It hasn't been a pleasure trip for Mauney. He has towed a 200-pound trailer thousands of miles, endured numerous mechanical problems and was struck by a car in Denver. But he's no stranger to adversity. The Charlotte, N.C., native was stricken with transverse myelitis in 1993. Doctors told him he would eventually lose the use of his legs and that his condition was incurable.

After overcoming transverse myelitis, Mauney founded Phoenix Charities, a non-profit organization offering assistance to people suffering from neuro-

Mauney's mission also includes promoting a 30-day, 1,000-mile bike ride from Salt Lake City to Denver in August 2002.

He and his sponsors are working out the details for the trip which has a similar purpose to his cross-country rides: Raising awareness.

He has invited Ralph Nader and other speakers to conduct discussion sessions along the way and plans to invite musicians and artists as well.

If all goes according to plan, the ride will culminate in a music and arts festival in Snowmass, Colo.

The next leg of Mauney's journey will take him to Akron

Eventually, he will arrive Washington, DC. But his mission won't be finished.

As Mauney said after arriving in Washington, DC, last year: "I come as I begin task in pe the c here." F

Fred Mauny, 64, of Salt Lake City, Utah rides his bike through Reedsville Tuesday night as part of a cross-country trek. Mauny, who left Salt Lake City on July 11, is headed to New York City and then to Washington, D.C. in an effort to raise awareness about the flag and what it represents. This is Mauny's second cross-country ride.

"It is pretty sad it has taken an event this large to awaken our country . . . and to see that life is precious and that we have to live every moment."

SHANKSVILLE

Cold Shanksville became the next Gettysburg? Both towns have been plucked from obscurity by the arbitrary hand of history to become national symbols.

Where Gettysburg represents the turning point of the Civil War, Shanksville has come to define the moment America began to fight back against terrorism as a group of passengers waged a high-altitude battle against their hijackers.

While there are obvious differences between the two events, the pair of Pennsylvania locales offer striking similarities.

They feature stark fields that have been transformed into hallowed ground, where state and national leaders have come to rededicate the country's resolve and to which people from all over have flocked.

One hundred days after the Sept. 11 attacks, it is clear that this Somerset County community

Pedal power

Cyclist's cross-country efforts are aimed at 'taking country back'

By JAIME GATTON

Fred Mauney believes in the power of pedaling.

The two-time cross-country bike rider is hoping that his presence in a third cross-country ride next year will enlighten people to the issues faced by American youth and cause people to take up arms and "take our country back."

That's the message he's spreading and the one that's attached to the back of his mountain bike - the one that has carried him, alone, from Utah to New York in 2000 and then from Utah to Washington, D.C. the following year.

Before he started his cross-country riding, Mauney, a Charlotte native who was in Mooresville recently promoting his trip, was living in a van in Salt Lake City. He pawned a computer for $70 and used the money to purchase a used mountain bike. He left on the first leg of his journey atop the old mount-
